

"Did You Sleep Well?"

That morning question to your guest really means "Did you feel at home in my guest room?"

What kind of a guest room is home-like? Not one patched up with odds and ends. Not one elaborate and stiff. But just a quiet, comfortable place where everything fits exactly right.

We believe we have the furnishings for just such a room. So exquisitely beautiful are the finishes of to-day, that you will find no trouble in procuring just what you want.

Old Ivory, American Walnut, and Mahogany, either one of which will give that air of refinement so much desired by every hostess.

Watch our windows. Crex and Japanese Rugs are in season now for sleeping porches and verandas. Made in all sizes.

Vudor Shades are the only ventilating shades on the market. Investigation will bear this out.

He is succeeded by George Bailey, a 1917 graduate of Spaulding high school, who began his duties to-day.

George H. Collamer, wire chief of the Barre exchange of the Vermont Tel. & Tel. Co., is at work on the erection of a log cabin, which he has designed as a camp on the Plainfield road. The rustic cabin is located on the Penwick property, near the fork of the road leading to Raymond Diemer's farm and is rapidly nearing completion. The wire chief has utilized a number of 6-inch logs in erecting a structure 10 by 12 feet in dimension and expects to occupy the camp during a part of the summer.

Bolster's reservoir, which was closed as a source of the city's water supply soon after a break in the dam last winter, is still in the hands of the water department laborers, although the day is rapidly approaching when water will be diverted to the big basin and thence to the city mains. All spring, since the completion of the cement dam and spillway, department laborers have been engaged in cleaning the bottom and sides of the basin. A crust of vegetation similar in its formation to sea weed has been deposited and deposits of aluminum scraped from the floor. Hundreds of small seedlings have been set out along the margin of the reservoir and when water is finally let into the pond basin, the sanitary condition of the plant will have been greatly improved.
